

Talking about Child Protection

Researching the experiences and views of maltreated deaf and disabled children and young adults about the child protection system

Want to share your experiences of Child Protection System?

We are looking to interview deaf and disabled children and young adults, who have been hurt or harmed by other people, about their experiences of child protection services. This research has been funded by NSPCC and is being carried out by researchers from the Universities of Edinburgh, Strathclyde and Coventry.

Are you....

- ◆ 11-26 years old?
- ◆ Deaf or disabled?
- ◆ Have experience of the Child Protection System?
- ◆ Prepared to give your views?
